ACCOMPLISHMENTS

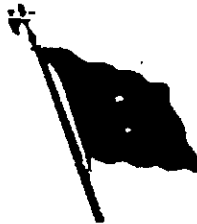

Captain Nicholas Mongillo distinguished himself in the performance of outstanding service to the United States as Commander Officer while assigned to the Pacific Missile Range Facility Barking Sands, Hawaii. During this period, the outstanding professional skill, leadership, and ceaseless efforts of Captain Mongillo resulted in major contributions to the effectiveness and success of the 293rd Combat Communication Squadron. He played a pivotal role in establishing close organizational and functional relationships between the Pacific Missile Range Facility and the Island of Kauai's primary Hawaii Air National Guard unit. During the 293rd's conversion in 2010 through 2011 from a ground-based air control mission to a mission-ready combat communications mission, Captain Mongillo worked closely with the unit's leadership team to quickly integrate the installation's only Air Force organization into every aspect of "Team Barking Sands" which included installation support activities, membership in local professional organizations, disaster preparedness planning, base safety programs, and public affairs/community appreciation events. Additionally, he authorized National Guard personnel access available seats on the weekly Navy C-26 inter-island flights between the Islands of Kauai and Oahu, saving the Hawaii Air National Guard approximately ten thousand dollars per year in inter-island airfare costs. The singularly distinctive accomplishments of Captain Mongillo reflect great credit upon himself, the Air National Guard and the United States Air Force.

"For heroic achievement as a pilot of an F/A-18C aircraft while attached to Strike Fighter Squadron EIGHT ONE, embarked in USS SARATOGA (CV-60). On 27 January 1991, Lieutenant Mongillo was tasked to provide suppression of surface-to-air and air-to-air threats during a critical mission into one of the enemy's major power production facilities. Traversing over 400 nautical miles of heavily defended enemy territory, he implemented an innovative plan designed to guarantee the survivability of dedicated strike assets. Preceding the strike package to the target area he skillfully maintained situational awareness of the strike disposition and status of the air and ground threats, relaying critical threat information throughout the route. His personal courage in the face of formidable enemy defenses was a prime contributor to the success of the mission, which inflicted devastating damage to the power plant. Lieutenant Mongillo's superb airmanship, courage and devotion to duty reflected great credit upon himself and were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

For conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action while participating in aerial flight as a Pilot of an F/A 18 aircraft in Strike Fighter Squadron 81 embarked in USS SARATOGA (CV 60) on 18 January 1991. As wingman in the first Carrier Air Wing SEVENTEEN daytime strike of Operation DESERT STORM, Lieutenant Mongillo was assigned to attack a critical airfield in Western Iraq. Within minutes of the target, the strike group was alerted to enemy aircraft approaching nose on at a relative closure rate of 1,200 knots. Quickly switching to the air to air mode, Lieutenant Mongillo calmly achieved radar lock, identified the bogies as hostile, and launched an AIM 7M SPARROW Missile in optimum firing parameters, destroying a MIG 21 FISHBED. Promptly switching back to the air to ground mode, he acquired his target and delivered four 2,000 pound bombs directly on target, destroying an airfield hangar complex. Lieutenant Mongillo's courageous airmanship and unwavering resoluteness in the face of the enemy were an inspiration to those serving with him. By his daring actions, aggressive leadership, and loyal devotion to duty in the face of hazardous flying conditions, Lieutenant Mongillo reflected great credit upon himself and upheld the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service.
